

GOOD-PRACTICE

Local exhaust ventilations with integrated lighting

Good illumination is one of the crucial factors for good quality when welding. Integrating lights in the hoods of local exhaust ventilations increases ergonomics and provides ideal workplace conditions since welding fumes are collected directly at the points where they are formed. Integrated lighting in the hoods induces workers to arrange the hood in the ideal position to collect the welding fume.

Local exhaust ventilation systems with integrated lighting are produced by several companies

IMPRESSUM:

Medieninhaber und Herausgeber: Zentral-Arbeitsinspektorat, Favoritenstraße 7, 1040 Wien • Verlags- und Herstellungsort: Wien • Stand: Januar 2018